

SIERRA LEONE PRESS RELEASE

SIERRA LEONE STILL MAINTAIN SUFFICIENT PETROLEUM STOCK LEVELS

12th March 2022

The Petroleum Regulatory Agency (PRA) would like to inform the general public that the maximum pump price for fuel remain Le12,000 per litre nationwide and there should be no tendency for panic buying.

It is obvious that the ongoing crisis in Europe is breeding speculations, fears and uncertainties among oil importing nations because of the current sporadic oil prices and supply depletion. However, Sierra Leone still maintain sufficient petroleum stock levels and the pump price remain unchanged.

As the Global economy faces this unprecedented threat in recent times, the Agency urges all petroleum operators to remain committed to their regulatory obligations in their service delivery to our valued consumers.
