PRESS RELEASE

Following recent happenings in the teaching profession, the subsequent issuance of a strike notice and the display of responsible leadership by the SLTU executive, the union now wishes to inform all its members and the general public that we have amicably resolved the outstanding issues earlier raised by the SLTU.

Bargaining in good faith involves a give and take process where all parties agree in a win-win situation.

In spite of the current socio-economic realities of our nation and the global developments that affect our lives, we have accepted government's offer of a 45% salary increase for teachers effective January 2023.

This consideration was done not just because of what we face as a country and people but also because of the love we have for our pupils and the need for education to continue to thrive.

The union in collaboration with the Teachers Solidarity Movement (TSM) will be holding meetings shortly across the country to give first hand details of all that has been achieved including provisions made in the Collective Bargaining Agreement.

Meanwhile, the union is encouraging all teachers to trust their leadership and continue to render diligent service to the nation.

Long live SLTU!

Long live Teacher Solidarity!!

Long live the Republic of Sierra Leone!!!
